WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1922.

Half the water from the town reservoir is wasted without doing anybody any good and, because of this waste, some of our neighbors and friends have to go without water enough for domestic use. The new water supply will be available about the first of September and until then folks are asked to take only two baths per week.

Howard C. Rice, Jr., son of Editor Howard C. Rice of the Brattleboro Reformer, has been awarded a scholarship at the university of Vermont because of the ability shown by Young Rice as editor of the Brattleboro high school paper. The award was made by a committee of the Vermont press association, composed of Otto R. Bennett of Manchester, H. L. Hindley of Rutland and John T. Cushing of St. Albans. There are nearly thirty high school and academy publications in the state and it is no small honor to H. Rice, Jr., to win in so large a field.

Speaking of the most attractive places in Vermont, Mr. Harold G. Rugg of Hanover, N. H., writes to The Banner, lauding the East Roxbury golf road and the road through Granville woods, between Rochester and Watfield, as two of the finest in Vermont. The Banner agrees with Mr. Rugg that these are two places of great beauty and worthy of more attention from Vermont motorists. Except during a wet spell, the East Roxbury Golf road from West Brookfield to North field is about the best piece of road in New England. Also on this road, three miles from Northfield, is the Jewel box road, one of the most charming in the state and conducted by a couple, Mr. and Mrs. Montpelier schoolteachers, through their guest register. Recent show that Montpelier and Barre people treat them very generously in their new venture. The Granville woods road is certainly charming in every respect, narrow and with turns made by sharp corners like those on Sandbar bridge, but cutting through a wilder and more wooded district than either the Williamstown or Rochester roads. On the west side of the Granville woods road is a waterfall which in spring or after a heavy shower in summer is one of the finest in Vermont though not equal in height to Hamilton falls in the town of Windham or in its natural setting to the waterfall in the north part of Sherburne, but neither of these is on a good motor car route and therefore not as readily available as the one in Granville woods. Mr. Rugg's later shows that Vermont beauties are known and approved outside the state, and, we suspect, often more appreciatively than by the folks at home.

King Boris says that everybody in Bulgaria should be a producer and gives that as a reason why he is working in a garden, but he will discover that amateur gardening is considerably more a matter of outlay than of production.

If devices for listening in and finding out what other people are doing continue to multiply, we shall have to deliver all messages of a confidential nature in person, and even then we shall worry over the possible presence of a dictagraph.

A Japanese novelist has decided to renounce his estate in order to become a proletarian. Just like American novelists, most of whom would willingly renounce the proletariat in order to get an estate.

When theaters get that thrilling moving picture film that illustrates and explains Einstein's theory of relativity, how are they going to accommodate the eager throngs that seek admittance?

You are wasting your time praying. "Give us this day our daily bread," unless you follow the prayer with an enthusiastic plunge into the work of the day. The Lord has no time for loafers.

"Ordinary people must economize, why not a countess?" asks an English judge. At that rate, what's the use of being a countess?

It is said there are 50,000,000 rats in the United States, the apparent ratio being half a rodent per person.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Don't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the callouses, without soreness, or irritation.

Powerful Lighthouse Beacon.

The Langarra lighthouse has one of the most powerful beacons on the Pacific ocean. So bright is the illumination from the lighthouse that the halibut fishermen twenty-five miles distant can operate in the night without difficulty. A stranger entering the lens room would soon find himself ablaze unless made aware of his danger. So great is the concentration of sun's rays through the huge reflectors that in less than a minute's time a person's clothes become ignited. Heavy blinds have to be kept down during the day to prevent fire.—Vancouver (B. C.) Tribune.
